GROWERS RAP PRO-RATE

Legislative Committee
Opens Hearings Today
On Dairying In State

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—The senate assembly joint interim committee on agriculture opened its hearing today on dairying groups today after listening to bitter but organized denunciation of the California Agricultural prorate act.

The committee cleared the way for consideration of dairy marketing problems at a session last night in the assembly chamber which lasted into the morning and even then was unable to give audience to groups interested in asparagus, hops, pears, canning peaches, walnuts or a general discussion of repeal of the prorate law.

Arguments on the prorate as related to figs, both dried and canning, olives, tomatoes and sweet potatoes were disposed of as the committee worked feverishly to make up time on its delayed calendar.

The prorate program met stern opposition by independent growers and with only one or two isolated exceptions was supported by members or officials of the various prorate program committees. In contrast to the militant stand of prorate opponents, the support was only lukewarm.

Spokesmen for central and northern California tomato growers presented the most heated criticism of the program, with three attorneys representing Napa-Solano, Merced and San Joaquin counties leading the attack.

Johnson Raps "Secrets"

"Method Of Dictators"
Laid To Administration
By California Senator

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Controversy over President Roosevelt's foreign policy exploded in the senate again today when Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., California, veteran isolationist, accused the administration of pursuing "the method of dictators" in attempting to keep its affairs secret.

That charge and repetition of a former one that present policy was leading the country toward war were made by Johnson in a formal statement.

"No epithets applied to senators or to newspapers will relieve the situation of its secrecy," Johnson said. "Of course, all the people are entitled to know what has happened and to know the details."

"I have ever been for national defense. I'll do anything for the protection of our land and our people. But I won't have Uncle Sam policing the world, nor will I arm this country for aggression."

FRESH PEARS AVAILABLE EVERY MONTH IN YEAR

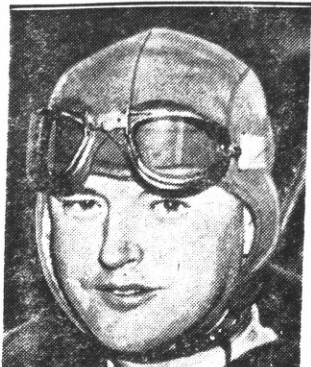

Fresh pears are available for culinary purposes virtually round the calendar, since improvement in the facilities of pear producers and packers of the Pacific Coast has lengthened the season. The Anjou—leading variety—is placed on the market in early fall, and continues through to mid-April or early May, and is the main variety from now to the end of the season.

An all-purpose pear, the Anjou is fine for eating fresh, baking, pie-making, and all other purposes. Perhaps, however, the Anjou pear in salads is the most common and best-known usage. The Anjou is extremely versatile, since like the avocado, the Anjou pear can be combined with almost anything and make a delicious salad. Here are a few suggestions for varying the salads:

1. Serve with cheese-stuffed prunes in the hollowed-out pear half.
2. Diced pear, crabmeat, onion salt and French dressing, (or substitute shrimp for crabmeat).
3. Diced pear, diced tomato, French dressing or thousand island dressing.
4. Stuff center of pear with:
 - a. Currant or mint jelly;
 - b. Cream cheese mixed with chopped green pepper or chopped nutmeats, top with olive;

LIONS FROLIC HELD SUCCESS

International President Greeted By Club At
Ladies Night Meeting

Dr. Walter F. Dexter, International President of Lions, was the guest of the Placerville club Tuesday night at their annual ladies night meeting, held at the clubhouse of the Shakespeare Club.

Seventy-five couples, including visitors from the Polson and Jackson clubs, were in attendance.

The meeting convened under the leadership of Lion President H. E. Dillinger, who called upon Thomas Maul, past district governor, to introduce the guest of honor.

Mr. Dexter's remarks paid tribute to the growth of Lionism as an instrument of international good will.

The program for the evening, which featured a company of radio entertainers from station KROY, at Sacramento, had been arranged by a committee of which Lion Secretary Arthur Mart was chairman and was presented during the serving of the dinner, at the conclusion of which Mr. Dexter spoke.

Red's Rhythm Rascals were in attendance and played several numbers during the dinner hour and so played for dancing following the conclusion of the formal program.

NINE YANKEE STARS FAIL TO RETURN 1939 CONTRACTS

NEW YORK, (UP)—Nine of the most important names were missing today from the list of New York Yankees who have signed and returned their 1939 contracts.

Headed by centerfielder Joe DiMaggio, who is reported asking a $10,000 increase to his $25,000 salary last year, the unsigned players include Catcher Bill Dickey, reported asking $20,000; Shortstop Frank Crosetti; Third baseman Red Rolfe; Second Baseman Joe Gordon; Outfielder Tommy Henrich; and Pitchers Red Ruffing, Monte Pearson and Spud Chandler.

The signed members of the club increased to 20 with receipt of contracts from three rookies—outfielders, Charlie Keller and Walter Judnich, and Marvin Bruer, pitcher.

Forestry Club To Meet Saturday Morning

A re-organization meeting of the Mt. Danaher 4-H Forestry Club, for which Eugene Kincaid was recently named leader, will be held Saturday morning at ten o'clock at the Camino Farm Center clubhouse.

Membership in the club is open to boys of the county who are between twelve and fifteen years of age and those who wish to enroll should attend the Saturday meeting.

Pair Jailed In Race Track Fraud

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Two men were in jail today charged with operating what is probably the first horserace betting system that, as long as it lasted, couldn't possibly lose.

Thomas J. McMahon and Emory C. Yates, both 23 years of age, waited until the race was over at Santa Anita Park, according to the forgery complaints against them and then altered their pari-mutuel tickets to pay off on the winning horse.

Ships Collide In Dense Fog

Freighter Virginian, Badly Damaged, Was
U. S. War Transport

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—Blinded by a milky fog, the American-Hawaiian line freighter Virginian and the Associated Oil Tanker Solano collided off Point Montara, south of the Golden Gate, today. They made San Francisco Bay with assistance of two coast guard cutters.

The impact cut a hole in the Virginian's hull. She shipped 20 feet of water in number 2 hold. The 49 crewmen forced the pumps to capacity to keep her afloat.

The Solano, with a crew of 36 aboard, was not badly damaged and aided the freighter to port.

The two ships were groping through the fog six miles off Point Montara, which is 10 miles south of the Golden Gate when they struck. Visibility was less than 50 feet.

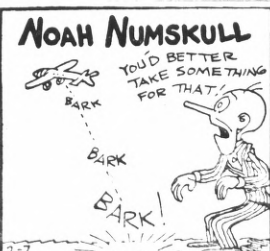

The Virginian was bound from San Francisco to San Pedro with a general cargo, while the Solano had cleared with oil for Ventura.

While transporting troops to France during the world war, the Virginian was the first American ship fired on after the United States declared war.

Fascist Press Acclaims New Nazi Warship

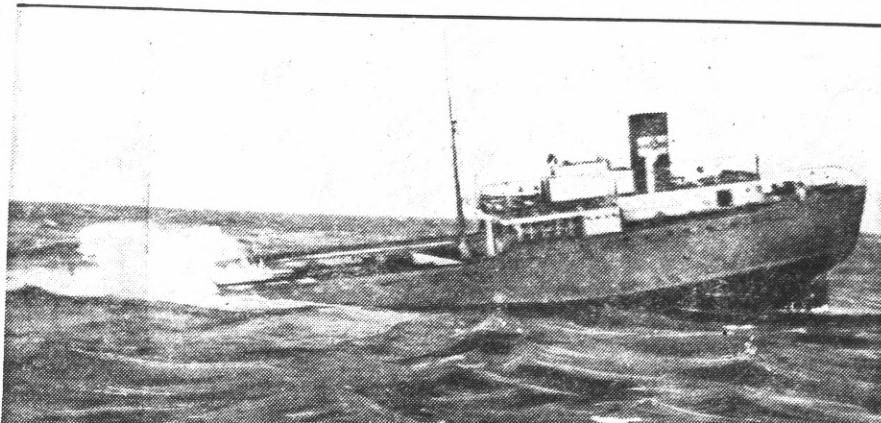

ROME, (UP)—Fascist newspapers blazoned news of the launching of Germany's new 35,000 ton battleship Bismarck today, and hailed it as indicative of a return of Germany to world naval power.

The newspaper Popolo Di Roma, like others under closer supervision of the government, headlined its story "Power of the Berlin-Rome Axis on the Sea."

Oil Tanker Splits in Half in Mid-Atlantic

In one of the most extraordinary accidents in the history of the sea, the 9,827-ton oil tanker Jaguar split in half in mid-Atlantic. This picture, taken from the deck of the rescue ship Duane, shows stern sinking. The forecastle was ten miles away. Men were rescued from both halves.

2 Widows Ask For Pension Of Husband

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—The "two widows" of Harry C. Thomas, who died here after he was found unconscious in a box car, today asked for Thomas' pay check, his belongings and his railroad act retirement "pension," but neither claimed the dead man's body, Coroner Jack Garibaldi said.

Wife No. 1, Mrs. Dorothy Travis of Bucyrus, Ohio, whom Thomas deserted with eight children 10 years ago, and wife No. 2, Mrs. Rebecca Thomas of Santa Barbara, Calif., both sought Thomas' effects. Thomas, according to Coroner Garibaldi, had married the second Mrs. Thomas in Ogden, Utah, in 1932.

"YOUTH HOSTEL" CHAIN APPROVED BY L. A. SUPERVISORS

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—The county board of supervisors has approved establishment of a series of "youth hostels," overnight shelters for young persons traveling in quest of employment.

The hostels will be operated as a cooperative undertaking of the county youth commission and the national youth administration.

The first of the shelters will be located in Arcadia, and other hostels eventually will be established at intervals of about 15 miles throughout southern California.

There are 332,000 youths between the ages of 16 and 24 residing in Los Angeles county, and of that total there are 22,000 over 18 who are unemployed. It was explained in pointing out the need for the shelters.

POLICE SEIZE ARSENAL OF "HOME-MADE" FIREARMS

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Police today investigated as strange an assortment of firearms as any museum ever displayed. They were manufactured by and taken from seven Stanford Junior High School students, officers reported.

The investigation was after John Jelich, 16, was killed while shooting one of the "home-made" weapons. It blew to pieces and the breech lodged in his skull. Seven other students yielded more of the crude pistols and told police they made them from materials obtained from the school on the pretense they were making cap pistols.

DISCOVERY CUTS REDUCTION COSTS TO 5 CENTS PER TON

Details Of "Sink and Float" Process Explained
To Mining And Metallurgical Engineers;
Boon To Owners Of Low-Grade Properties

NEW YORK (UP)—A new process which reduces the cost of one phase of separating minerals from ores from $20 to five cents a ton, and may make vast new fortunes available from abandoned mines, was widely discussed today at the 150th meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

It was announced by W. B. Foulke of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, which developed it after 35 years of research and has been experimenting with it on a small scale at a plant in Shenandoah, Pa., since 1936.

Its chief benefits will be in the iron and anthracite industries. The entire nation may profit, however, Foulke said, from a "tremendous increase" in natural resources and the employment of thousands of workers in the new mining fields he said the process would open.

It is called the "sink and float" process and involves a new method of separating minerals and ores in liquids. Presently the "floatation" process, discovered 30 years ago, is used. Ores are dumped into liquids called halogenated hydrocarbons, 1.30 to 3 times heavier than water. The specific gravity of the liquid

CARDINAL DALLA COSTA MAY BE CHOSEN TO BECOME POPE

VATICAN CITY, (UP)—The newspaper Telegrapho di Leghorn, organ of Count Galeazzo Ciano, Fascist foreign minister and son-in-law of Premier Benito Mussolini, called for an Italian, non-political pope today and recommended Cardinal Dalla Costa, Archbishop of Florence, as successor to Pope Pius XI.

As alternate, the newspaper suggested Cardinal Massimi, president of the commission for original codification.

It was in an unsigned editorial that the newspaper, whose editor, Giovanni Ansaldo usually expresses the Italian foreign office viewpoint, called for an "evangelical" pope rather than a "diplomatic" one.

Bandit Gang Loots Florida Hotel

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., (UP)—Police blockaded all streets and highways leaving Miami Beach today to trap a gang of bandits who held up employees of the Blackstone Hotel and fled with deposit boxes containing valuables of hotel guests. Amount of the loot obtained by the gang, reported to have numbered five or six men, was believed to have been considerable.

Hungary Prime Minister "Purges" Self

BUDAPEST, Hungary, (UP)—Premier Bela Imredy announced today that he had resigned because his grandmother was a Jew. His announcement, made at a government party conference a few hours after his resignation had been presented to and accepted by Admiral Nicholas De Horthy, caused a sensation in political circles.

METHOD IS TESTED

Mine Engineers Told Of Discovery Recently
Made By Arizona Man

TUCSON, Ariz., (UP)—Dr. T. G. Chapman, University of Arizona professor, who has been working five years on treatments of low grade mining ores, today announced a "revolutionary" process for profitable working of gold ore valued at as little as $1 a ton.

Dr. Chapman's process, it was said, will make available large amounts of gold held in low grade and hitherto unworkable ores and in abandoned tailings and castoff ores.

The new recovery method will be put into operation within a few weeks, Dr. Chapman said.

He explained the process was based on the dissolution of gold by cyanide and the resultant absorption of the gold by activated carbon during the dissolving action. The carbon is recovered from the cheap ore by the flotation method and burned to form an ash. The ash is then smelted for the gold.

Dr. Chapman said production costs of the new method were "considerably lower" than present methods. He said the process was also adaptable to higher grade ores.

A scientific paper on Dr. Chapman's research will be delivered today at the New York meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical engineers.

Pension Plan Virtue Told

Townsend Proposal Is Given Support By
Washington Congressman

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Representative Martin F. Smith, D., Wash., means committee that the Townsend old age pension plan is the most effective method of promoting business recovery because it would provide adequate volume and velocity of money.

He said that the Townsend plan would establish pensions on a "pay as you go" basis, and this would "create active, liquid working capital, available every month to finance the potential productive capacity of our industrial and agricultural structure."

"The Townsend plan is the only proposal before congress which will meet requirements of the price system, the profit motive and credit capitalism," Smith said.

BRITISH CABINET VOTES RECOGNITION FOR SPAIN REBELS

LONDON, (UP)—The British cabinet decided today to recognize the Spanish nationalist government in principle, according to informed political quarters.

Actual granting of recognition, however, will be delayed pending further consultations with France.

Lord Halifax, foreign secretary, submitted to the cabinet a report balancing arguments for and against recognition. The report was said to have concluded that it would be advisable to recognize Generalissimo Francisco Franco without unnecessary delay.

Fleming Will Direct "Gone With The Wind"

HOLLYWOOD, (UP)—Film production of "Gone with the Wind," delayed two years for want of a leading lady, continued today under a new director, Victor Fleming.

Fleming's appointment was announced by producer David O. Selznick, of International Studios, who yesterday revealed that he and Director George Zukor had disagreed, in friendly fashion.

By HENRY McEMORE

ABOARD S. S. MATSONIA, Nearing Honolulu, (U)—Either the officers of this ship are wrong, or I am. Never being one to take things for granted, I questioned the position of this ship as posted by them at noon today and sat down in my cabin to figure it out for myself. They were very nice about giving me all the available data, and for the last three hours I have been charting our position. I overlooked nothing, north star, sun, time, date, etc. Furthermore, I am sure I made no mistakes in arithmetic. The very fact that I don't see how I could be wrong is what is worrying me, because, according to my calculations, the S. S. Matsonia, right this minute, is just fourteen and three-quarter miles outside of Muncie, Indiana.

I hope that the ship's officers are right, because I would much rather go to Honolulu than Muncie. Not that I don't like Muncie, because I do. Thousands of my best friends live in Muncie. But I feel it would be too much of an imposition to drop in on them in a ship. Come to think of it, not more than three or four of my friends in Muncie have docking space for a 20,000-ton liner.

I have told the captain of the position I worked out, and have warned him that if I am right he had better slow down once he gets inside the city limits because Muncie strictly enforces its speed regulations.

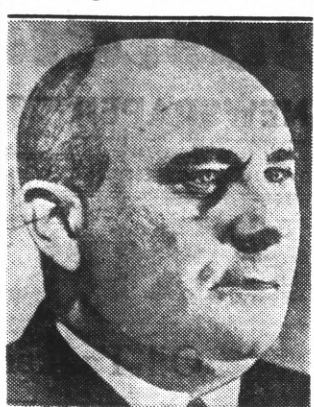

"Remember," I cautioned another officer, "fifteen miles an hour." "Knots to you," he answered.

Having done all I could about the position of the ship business, I resumed eating. We eat something on this boat every few minutes, and having been a full hour without any kind of food I was gaunt and weak with hunger. And you can see when I tell what an average day has been.

Upon waking in the morning every sensible person realizes that all the food on a boat is free and he bounds out of bed determined to get his share. People who usually have just orange juice and coffee for breakfast toss off steaks, kippered herrings, and innumerable omelettes. When we finish these enormous bargain breakfasts we race to the deck in time to have bouillon and crackers. We gulp this down in order not to be late for the appetizers served before lunch. Still clutching an appetizer in one hand, we then tear for the dining room where we order everything on the luncheon menu.

Between lunch and tea we forage through the boat, eating fruit, sandwiches, and cakes that are scattered about on nearly every table. We then devour whacking big teas, followed by more appetizers in the

There, the thoughtful steward has laid out a cold supper for us. Bring on either Muncie or Honolulu, boy. But do bring me a little something to eat.

"DE-INKED" WASTE PAPER MAY BE USED AS NEWSPRINT

PITTSBURGH, (U)—Newspaper executives were enthusiastic today over the results of a test run of newsprint made from "de-inked" waste paper.

Stronger and cheaper than standard newsprint, the new product was made from old newspapers, magazines, carbon paper, poster sheets and scraps, both slick and rough grade. The process was discovered by Dr. F. W. Hochstetter after 15 years of experiments. He first dissolved the waste into a dirty pulp, then purified it with a chemical treatment that left it whiter than ordinary newsprint.

Words of Wisdom
Courtesy is a science of the highest importance. — It is like grace and beauty in the body, which charm at first sight, and lead on to further intimacy and friendship. — Montaigne.

Hints on Etiquette
"Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy," says Emerson. Remember that next time you are in a hurry and inclined to be irritable and impatient.

Today's Horoscope
The year to come will be a difficult one for you so be discreet in all things. You will find that difficulties will arise and obstacles put in your path by an enemy who is not over-scrupulous, so watch your step. The child born today will be in need of wise upbringing. He should be firmly but kindly restrained when he is unruly, for he possesses a reckless, over-confident and quarrelsome disposition, which is, nevertheless, fearless and venturesome. His energies should be directed into proper channels.

Parent May Abet Child's Bad Habits

Myers Warns That "Cute" Acts of Infant May Develop Into Undesirable Behavior Later

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

WHEN TOBY was about eight months of age he bit his father's hand. The proud mother looking on thought it was very cunning and laughed. Later Toby did likewise to others and when there was some one to laugh at him. Now the lad is 18 months of age. When he gets very angry at his parents or others, he will run at them in rage and bite them. Sometimes they will slap him—for the very thing they used to reward him for doing.

How many hundred Tobys in the world today! We see them, one, three or thirteen years of age. Though they don't all specialize on biting, they do other things as bad, perhaps, which their own parents used to think were very cunning and laughed at. We naturally feel annoyed at the child, but our anger is directed at the wrong person. The real offenders are his parents who encouraged the habit at the very time it could easily have been prevented; or, let alone, might have disappeared of its own accord.

The Beginning

Saying ugly words, calling persons ugly names and the like often have begun in this way.

Wise parents will not allow themselves to be so childish as to laugh at any act or utterance of a child which they will not want this child to repeat habitually several years later. Usually such matters will be ignored at first. But if they show a tendency to grow as habits, instant punishment should always follow this undesirable behavior. In some instances, as when the baby calls his parent an ugly name or strikes her deliberately, immediate pain on the first offense will be desirable.

Dad's Bad Habit

All too many parents, especially Dads, will tease the young child just for the fun of making him grow angry and do certain anti-social things. Unmarried uncles often are the worst offenders. They should have more sense. The hard thing about it is that the child later must pay the penalty in punishment and undesirable behavior.

Anything you do not wish to have the child do always, try to keep him from doing just once. Anything by him you won't likely laugh at ten years hence, don't laugh at today.

This principle has still wider applications. You are tempted to rock the child to sleep just this time, to lie down beside him just once, or to drag him into bed with you just tonight. But for the baby there is no "just once" in such matters. Is it not too bad that grown-up people, otherwise intelligent, don't wake up to these simple inescapable facts?

INSECT HORDES CALLED MOST DANGEROUS U. S. ENEMY

WASHINGTON, (UP)—America's most dangerous enemy, a government report shows, has no army, navy or air force.

The government annually spends many millions of dollars waging a war against insects and plant diseases, which cause damage amounting into hundreds of millions of dollars each year.

It is a war for survival of the human race against an ever-threatening encroachment of plant pests. A victory for the pests would mean starvation for man, according to entomologists of the Department of Agriculture.

"Constant warfare, on a scale impossible for individuals or even localities, is essential to keep the nation's more important insect enemies and plant diseases from getting the upper hand," Dr. Lee A. Strong, chief of the department's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, said.

"Any let-down in this warfare makes past efforts practically worthless and calls for redoubled efforts in the future. Insects can multiply so fast under conditions favorable to them that a comparatively small number soon restores their ranks."

The insects and plant diseases attack virtually every important crop grown, causing enormous losses.

Some are natives of this continent, others are "invaders" brought in from abroad in plants, seeds and fruit.

Strong said the bureau's principal campaign this year will be directed against spread of the white fingered beetle in the south and the Dutch elm disease in the east. He conceded that complete eradication of the beetle is impossible.

Hope for eventual eradication of the Dutch elm disease, and hence the survival of the elm as a North American shade tree, was retained despite results of the year's scouting which showed an increase in the number of diseased trees.

The results of two great defensive campaigns — against grasshoppers and Mormon crickets—last year proved effective. The government supplied the states with $1,125,000 worth of poison bait which was estimated to have saved crops valued at $102,288,177.

Stewart Says— Why Senators Are Aroused By Foreign Policy

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Congress is greatly exercised over the supposed secrecy of President Roosevelt's foreign policy.

Louis Ludlow

My own impression is that his policy is not as secret as is being represented. Still, when he summoned the senate's military affairs committee to the White House to hear the details of his program, it is a fact that he did pledge its members not to leak what he said to them. I think they HAVE leaked it all. Nevertheless nobody is quite sure about it.

Anyway, the president unquestionably discriminated somewhat in favor of the senatorial military affairs committee membership, implying that he could trust THAT group, but not the rank and file of senators and representatives.

And my!—how sore it made those not on the military affairs committee.

It made the members of the senatorial foreign affairs committee especially sore—the representative foreign affairs committee likewise—also the senate and house naval affairs committees.

Senators, if anything, are angrier than the representatives. This is because the senate, in particular, is supposed to endorse or veto any international decision that the president, through the state department, may enter into.

Not alone are Republicans and anti-administration Democrats miffed. Plenty of good New Dealers are fretted, too.

To say the least, the thing was presidentially tactless.

Openly Arrived At

It is constitutional that the president cannot declare war; it takes congress to do things of that kind.

Yet it furthermore is notorious that the president can take the country so close to war that congress cannot avoid declaring it. That is why statesmen like Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana have tried to require a popular vote to precede a war declaration.

But that will take a constitutional amendment. Slow work!

Our anti-war folk are afraid of war before such an amendment can be adopted.

They do not believe that President Roosevelt wants war, to be sure. What they fear is that the president, by a series of secret international compacts, will involve the United States in international belligerency.

Nobody imagines that President Wilson wanted American participation in the World War in the 1900 teens.

The theory is that, by confidential tinkering with the situation, he finally involved Uncle Samuel—or could not help doing so. His motto was, "Open covenants, openly agreed to."

Only, they weren't open and they weren't openly agreed to.

Popular Opinion Lacking

These "g.t." bargains, between foreign offices and state departments, without public opinion back of them, don't hold water.

Old world cabinets are very much addicted to them.

Apparently we are entering into one of them with the democratic powers.

All right, we are on the side of the democracies.

It looks like getting us into a war, however. Look how the German and Italian governmentally-controlled press reacts to President Roosevelt's conference with the senate's military affairs committee!—which it doesn't know any more about than we do.

We had BETTER know about them.

I can sympathize with our military affairs committeemen, who want publicity.

'Nother Flood?—That's Too Much

When the Ohio River neared flood stage at New Albany, Ind., across from Louisville, Ky., George Wischart posted a "For Sale" sign at his new cottage. A former cottage was swept away in the record-breaking flood of 1937. This year's flood is of moderate proportions in comparison.

Telephone Call Stolen, Bill Is $25

OAKLAND, (UP)—Joseph Hervieu, advertising man, was surprised to find an item of $25 on his telephone bill for long distance calls. Police investigated and found a short story writer who had been having trouble with her "boy friend" in a neighboring city. She admitted having obtained a key to Hervieu's apartment and to having recently "borrowed" his telephone in an effort to patch up these difficulties. How serious these difficulties really were was indicated by the fact that one of the conversations lasted 69 minutes.

VICTIMS SKIRT DEATH IN TWO FREAK MISHAPS

SYDNEY, N. S. W. (UP)—Two Sydney men were victims of accidents which they reckoned would not happen again for a thousand years.

Percy Williams, 25, was sitting in the backyard of his home at Newton, a Sydney suburb, when an object hurtled out of the blue and knocked him unconscious. The object proved to be the iron tail-skid "shoe" weighing a pound and a half. It had fallen from an airplane which was flying overhead. Williams was not badly injured, but he would have been killed if the skid shot had hit him squarely.

Francis Farmer, 68, was walking along a city street after rain had fallen and slipped on the wet pavement. He fell, was not hurt by the fall, and stood up with a woman's umbrella hanging from his nose. The woman had been standing on the edge of the pavement, and as Farmer fell, one of the umbrella ribs pierced his nose. A pair of pliers had to be used to cut the rib, which was removed from the nose in a hospital.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE HELD KEY TO JOBS PROBLEM

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Walter F. George, D., Ga., one of the senators assigned by Vice President John N. Garner to help draft broad changes in the federal relief system, said today that prosperity depends on elimination of "those things that have irritated business and kept it in doubt."

George, whom the administration sought unsuccessfully to defeat in the primaries last year, said he felt that business was ready to "take over a great many unemployed, despite the fact that some of the appointments to high office in the past month haven't inspired confidence in business nor in the people generally."

The gray haired conservative was appointed to the Byrnes unemployment and relief committee, which will hold hearings on a bill to merge into a department of public works the works progress administration, public works administration, civilian conservation corps, national youth administration, bureau of public roads, and the public buildings branch of the treasury department.

"Legislation in this field is very necessary," George said. "Our whole relief program has been haphazard. It was hastily devised in the distress period of 1933 and 1934, and we have simply been following along the course then started without giving it the careful consideration it deserves."

He frowned on the proposal to create a permanent agency to administer relief, and said that he had "never accepted relief on the basis that it would be a permanent condition in this country."

Household Hint

Oil silk covers, pouches and other containers are a practical new contribution to the housekeeping art. These containers are fitted with zippers to keep the food fresh, while the covers have elastic edges that fit snugly over bowl rims, protecting them from dust and odors. If you dip these protective coverings daily in thick lukewarm soap-suds followed by rinsing, you will keep these gadgets sweet and clean.

The annual Citrus Fiesta was held at Besa, Arizona, Feb. 4.

BLINDFOLD TEST TELLS HUDSON COMFORT

In a unique test conducted in Detroit, seating comfort of Hudson's new Airfoam seats deserves the phrase "You can tell it blindfolded," according to official observers. In a room containing a number of automobile seats, visitors were invited to select the most comfortable cushions while blindfolded. Seats were shifted at intervals to obtain the most impartial results. Hudson Airfoam cushions scored 100% recognition for combining softness with firm support of the body. Photo shows how test was made.

TINY TIMES EDITORS TWICE BESET BY PROBLEM OF NEWSPAPER DEAD-LINE AND LESSONS AT SCHOOL

KEARNEY, Neb., (AP)—Publishers of the Kearney Tiny Times were working furiously, with eighth grade lessons piling up and the deadline for their seventh edition of the Times only a week away, but they paused to discuss such significant newspaper topics as circulation ethics, profits, and politics. The 12-year-old publishers are Marshall McClure, Charles Clem and Wayne Jones. They gather their own news, write editorials, draw cartoons, solicit advertising, and pay their own expenses.

What is more, they make money. The Tiny Times is only a six-page paper and its pages are only typewriter-paper size, but its circulation has increased to 89 city subscribers. "We could have a larger circulation," Marshall explained, "if we sold our paper to the school kids, but that wouldn't be treating our advertisers fairly, because we want the older folks to see the ads." The Tiny Times Company, which has a charter and by-laws and everything, nets approximately $1.25 an edition, the publishers estimate. This is exclusive of operating and overhead expense, which totals about 50 cents an edition.

The money, when they get enough, will be turned back into improvements, because the publishers are far-sighted. They intend to purchase their own hectograph upon which to "print" the Times. They once had their own machine, but when it broke last year they were forced to discontinue publication. Now they turn out "copy" on their own three typewriters but are forced to use Marshall's father's hectograph when they "go to press."

The Tiny Times has no editor. "We assign each other different jobs each time," explained Charles who wrote the editorials last time. One of them criticized Gov. R. L. Cochran for decreasing his budget for the state teachers colleges.

Some day the Times may resume its page of jokes, the publishers hope. It was temporarily discontinued, Marshall said, because "all the work is original and we can't think of any new ideas."

STATE COMMERCE CHAMBER MANAGER SUCCUMBS AT PALM SPRINGS

Norman Hinsdale Sloane, General Manager of the California State Chamber of Commerce, died Tuesday morning at Palm Springs. The cause of death was a heart attack following a brief illness.

Sloane was born in Pueblo, Colorado, in 1890. Following his graduation from Colorado Springs High School, he studied forestry at Biltmore Forestry School, North Carolina, and in Heidelberg, Germany, receiving his degree from Heidelberg in 1911.

Sloane entered the U. S. Forest Service at Monterey National Forest in 1911, and by 1913 had worked his way up to become the youngest forest supervisor in the United States.

After serving successively as supervisor of the Monterey, Cleveland and Shasta National Forests, he resigned from the Forest Service in 1920, to become the manager of the Home Industry League, one of the early predecessors of the present California State Chamber of Commerce. The Home Industry League, later renamed the California Industries Association, was merged in 1921, largely through the efforts of Sloane, with the California Development Board to become the California Development Association. Thus was formed, for the first time, the statewide civic body which had been Sloane's vision. The name of the California Development Association was changed in 1929 to the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Under Sloane's executive direction, the state wide organization was perfected, with six district offices opened in Los Angeles, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento, Santa Rosa, and San Francisco, and with regional council and committee organizations developed around these centers.

A. J. McFadden, president of the California State Chamber of Commerce, in a statement, said:

"Speaking for all of the directors and officers of the State Chamber, it is a great personal shock and a great loss to the State. Norman Sloane was a man known to have had a great vision for California, based upon California unity of action. In the solution of all of the great economic problems which have confronted the people of California during the past two decades, Norman Sloane's personal leadership has been a force whose value can never be measured. His friends, and California as a whole, have suffered a great loss."

Sloane is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Baldwin Sloane, Berkeley civic leader, his son, Norman H. Sloane, Jr., and two sisters, Edith C. Sloane of San Jose, and Mrs. Helen S. Abbott, of Stockton.

KELSEY

On February 3rd, Mrs. Eva Demuth Bachtel passed to rest at her home in Sacramento bringing to the memory of early day friends on the Northside the splendid qualities of a fine Christian woman. As Eva Demuth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Demuth, she lived her girlhood days in Bear Creek District, then a thriving lumbering community. When her grammar school days were over Eva was sent to Michigan to her mother's people where she attended high school and where she later met Roswell J. Bachtel, whom she later married. Returning to her home, she taught school for six years in this community. After marriage to Mr. Bachtel she moved to Sacramento where her husband had a responsible position in the Southern Pacific Shops from which he has been retired for many years.

She made a home later for her two nephews, Percy and Maurice, sons of O. P. Demuth, until they finished their apprenticeship in the shops and also made her home the home of her brother, the late Bingham Demuth, while he worked in the S. P. shops. Always on Memorial Day the Bachtels returned to the Demuth home and the cemetery at Georgetown. She leaves to rever her memory beside her husband, two brothers, O. P. Demuth, of Kelsey, and an invalid brother, Ernest Demuth, at present in Long Beach, both of whom were in Sacramento for the services. The Will Kelley's of Bear Creek, intimate friends of Mrs. Bachtel, also went to Sacramento for services prior to interment in East Sacramento.

Little Percy Morris has been brought home from a three weeks' siege of pneumonia in the Sutter Hospital. For a week her life hung by a thread and operation performed and its later developments were very serious. The Morris are now living two miles north of Garden Valley, having moved from Kelsey to be nearer the Sliger Mine where Mr. Perry Morris is employed.

I answer Crossword Puzzles, too

Miss Robinson, the crossword-puzzle expert, drives into my station the other day and gives me a wonderful opening for my talk on Golden Shell Oil.

"What's an 11-letter word for reduces friction?" she asks, as I'm fillin' her tank with Super-Shell.

Quick as a flash, I pops back, "G-O-L-D-E-N S-H-E-L-L," spellin' it out on my fingers.

"No, it won't fit," she says, serious. "It's got to start with an L and end with an N—11 letters."

"That reminds me of Golden Shell," I says, "because it's made especially for today's driving which is nearly all starting and stopping."

"It's got to start with an L," she insists, still lookin' at the puzzle.

"Golden Shell starts flowin' the instant you touch the starter," I says, gauging the oil. "Look here, Miss Robinson," I continues, "this old oil ain't givin' you the proper lubrication. Modern motors need the best lubrication you can give 'em. An' in case you're still wonderin' what you need in your motor and your crossword puzzle, too, it's lubrication."

"Why, that's it," she exclaims. "That's the word!"

"Yes'm," says I, gettin' ready to drain an' refill, "and Golden Shell's the last word for lubrication—at only 25¢ a quart, too."

Boy—in this business you even gotta be a crossword-puzzle expert!
